Field studies behaviour expectations

Visual Arts New York Trip

May 22-28, 2024

Dean Long , Heather Dodge and Maria Dimas

During our New York 2024 trip each student will be acting as a representative of our school. As such it is expected that every student will conduct himself or herself in a manner that reflects positively on our school community. All students are expected to follow the school's Code of Conduct, as outlined on the school's website, during this trip.

In addition student are expected to obey all curfews, remain with the group at all times, and must follow the district's policies for alcohol and drug consumption.

Consequences:

The consequences of inappropriate behavior during a field study can range from providing verbal warning for minor offenses to being removed from the trip, with further school discipline subsequently assigned by a school administrator. All consequences during the trip are to be determined at teacher supervisor's discretion.

Any infraction of rules surrounding curfew, drugs and alcohol, or any other dangerous activity will result in parents/guardians being called and being responsible for any costs associated with arranging immediate transport home of student, including costs related to ensuring adequate ongoing supervision of the group or student involved.

Agreement:

I understand the expectations of behavior and accept the consequences that will be applied should I choose to violate these expectations.
